Chief Clerk,

Mint of United States,

Philadelphia,

Dear Sir;

When the writer called this morning and collected our bill for one hundred & ninety three dollars & sixty two cents, [$193.62] he stopped in your office to pay the credit bill, as requested by letter. As you were not present one of the clerks present took the amount and, through not seeing the bill we supposed it was ninety seven cents, [97¢] and intended to pay that amount, but we now think that only seventy seven cents [77¢] was paid.

We enclose herewith a copy of our credit bill showing that the amount was seventy nine cents, [79¢] and we send herewith a postage stamp to pay the additional two cents. We will be obliged if you will look into this matter and see if we are not correct.

Regretting that we should have caused you any trouble in this matter, we remain,

Yours very truly,

A handwritten signature in cursive script, reading "James B. Thompson". Below the signature, the word "Treas." is written in a smaller, less formal cursive.
